CAMPHOR CULTURE.

Mr. C. E. Walter of this city is in receipt of a letter from Mr. Ko Ping Chang, of the customs service, at Santuao, China, in which he says:

"It was with great interest that I read your remarks about camphor in the Popular Magazine of June 7th, 1920. It was not such a very long time ago that camphor trees grew wild in this district, but at present nearly all of them have been cut down to be made into camphor and the greater part of the camphor and oil went to Formosa.

"I would be very thankful if you would write me and let me know in what way camphor trees are cultivated, as there are still a number of old trees in this district; also in what manner the camphor is distilled from the leaves and twigs, as I am afraid the method now used in this district does not obtain nearly all the camphor that can be obtained, and in the present way they destroy the tree."

The item from the Popular Magazine to which Mr. Chang refers is as follows: "Not long ago in this department we spoke of the scarcity of camphor, how the bulk of it came from Formosa, and we suggested that agricultural experts urge other countries to take up the culture of the camphor tree. C. E. Walter, of Pascagoula, Mississippi, writes us the following interesting note apropos of this: "There are a great many camphor trees growing along the Gulf Coast as ornamental and shade trees. They could be grown commercially in any quantity. They are as easily grown as cotton, and it is not necessary for the trees to mature before camphor can be produced from them. Any time after one year of age the leaves and twigs can be used for distilling, and camphor can be made as easily as moonshine whiskey, and a Camphor culture may offer a new crop can be produced every year," and highly profitable industry for the Gulf Coast section, where the trees have heretofore been planted solely for ornament. But as the trees are exceedingly hardy and put on a luxuriant growth each year, it seems their culture from a commercial standpoint is worthy of study and investigation.

A Western minister advises, "Let the women wear what they like." Sure, "As they sow so shall we reap."—Columbia S. C. Record.

TRUCK GROWING.

I have made a study of the soil around Pascagoula and compared it with the soil at other sections on the coast, where hundreds of cars of truck are shipped every year, and I have concluded that as good truck, and as early truck, can be grown at Pascagoula, as anywhere on the coast.

I have visited the farmers who are growing truck, and they have listed with me one hundred crops to be planted in potatoes, cabbage, turnips, radishes, carrots and beets or the early markets next spring.

Mr. John Lister, Industrial Agent for the L. & N. R. R., called at my office this week, and assured me the co-operation of his road in the marketing of our produce. This means much toward success.

The development of this business at Pascagoula would bring farmers to take up the land that is lying idle and build up a permanent business that would mean millions of dollars for Pascagoula.

The co-operation of the business people of Pascagoula is earnestly solicited in this work. Will you come across now and help bring new life to the town?

J. W. PATE,
County Agent.

Mr. George Reno and attractive little daughter left Monday for New York and from thence to their home at Havana, Cuba, after spending a few days here with Mrs. W. H. Laddner and Mrs. G. Hollister at the beach.

FRED TAYLOR, Clerk.

NON-RESIDENT NOTICE.

No. 4087.

The State of Mississippi.

To Jacob S. Storm, Terre Haute, Ind.; The Securities Trust Co., Indianapolis, Ind., and all persons having or claiming any title to or interest in that land in Jackson County in said State sold for taxes on the first Monday of April, 1918, described as the SE $\frac{1}{4}$ of the NW $\frac{1}{4}$, the NE $\frac{1}{4}$ of the SW $\frac{1}{4}$, and the SE $\frac{1}{4}$ of Section 6 Township 6 South of Range 5 West.

You are commanded to appear before the Chancery Court of the County of Jackson in said State ON THE 3rd MONDAY OF NOVEMBER, A. D. 1920, to defend the suit in said court of F. J. Dunten, wherein you are defendant, and wherein complainant seeks to confirm the aforesaid tax sale and tax title.

This 10th day of September, A. D. 1920.

FRED TAYLOR, Clerk.

Man Who Commands Success.

A man who is not enamored of his job, who lacks that resolute, determined purpose which knows no defeat, recognizes no failure, is never a success. The man who is victory organized will get up more determined than ever after he is knocked down. The harder the fall the greater the rebound. You can't keep such a man down, you can't discourage him any more than you could have discouraged a Napoleon, for his personality, his character, will remain although his home, his property, and every material thing he possessed be swept away.—New Success.

"Blue Nose."

Blue Nose is a popular name for a native of Nova Scotia. Hallburton, in "Sam Slick," gives the following account of its origin: "Pray, sir," said one of my fellow passengers, "can you tell me why the Nova Scotians are called Blue Noses?" It is the name of a potato," said I, "which they produce in the greatest perfection, and boast to be the best in the world. The Americans have in consequence given them the nickname 'Blue Noses.'"

Fox Squirrel's Nests.

In the South, instead of living in the hollow trees, the fox squirrels build big nests in the tops of the pine and other trees, usually of Spanish moss, says the American Forestry Magazine. In these they sleep, also carrying to them the pine cones. In the hardwood forests of the North, dry leaves take the place of the Spanish moss, and a conspicuous nest is built with an entrance hole at the side.

Keeping Fit.

Man in this world is like a traveler who is always walking toward a colder region, and who is, therefore, obliged to be more active as he goes farther north. The great malady of the soul is cold, and in order to counteract this formidable illness he must keep up the activity of his mind not only by work but by contact with his fellow men and with the world.—De Toqueville.

Don't Read When Drowsy.

To read or study when tired or drowsy is to strain the eyes to a dangerous degree, writes W. M. Carhart in Public Health. Avoid evening study whenever possible. If you are using your eyes by artificial light, be sure the light does not shine directly into the eyes, and try to have it come from behind and to the left side so as to avoid the harmful glare.

Flat Feet.

Symptoms of flat foot are pain along the instep or even in the calves of the legs, knees, thighs, hips or back, often mistaken for rheumatism or other troubles. The person stands with feet well apart and toes turned outward. The ankle bends inward and the weight falls on the inner line of the foot so that the entire sole rests flat on the ground.

The Early Balkan Settlers.

The first barbarians to settle permanently in the Balkan peninsula were the Bulgars, a Finnish people, whose home was the middle Volga districts. The Slavs are said to have begun to pour into this region as early as the third century, but they were not established until some time after the Bulgarian invasion.

Waterproof Soles.

If shoes are much worn in the damp without overshoes the soles should be waterproofed. Most shoe dealers carry a preparation for the purpose, or a two-to-one mixture of melted mutton tallow and rosin may be applied at home. You will find that the soles do not only defy water after such treatment, but wear longer.

Dyes From Sorghum Husks.

French scientists have found that sorghum husks yield a gum which can be used for dyeing wool, silk, leather and vegetable fibers. The possible colors, which are sun-proof and soap-proof, are various shades of red and pink, gray and dark brown.

One's Highest Thoughts.

The highest thoughts are those which are least dependent on language, and the dignity of any composition and praise to which it is entitled are in exact proportion to its dependency on language for expression.—Ruskin.

"Sport Not Worth the Candle."

"It's a poor sport that is not worth the candle" is from George Herbert's "Jacula Prudentum," a collection of proverbs dated 1651, which had appeared in a shorter form as "Outlandish Proverbs" in 1640.

Aberdeen a City of Granite.

Aberdeen, Scotland, is popularly known as the Granite City, from the fact that it has more buildings of solid granite than any other city of its size in the world.

5,144 Lakes in Michigan.

The state of Michigan contains 5,144 inland lakes, covering an area of 1,114 square miles, besides a waterfront on the Great Lakes of 1,350 miles.
